

MY PASSION

I will pursue my Mary Kay business with excitement and drive and belief because God has given me the gift of making others feel comfortable and important, as well as the gift of speaking and encouragement, and I want to serve Him fully in all that I say, do and think.

My personal excellence honors God.

In living full-out for the Lord, His providence and harvest will provide for my family to share many life experiences together and to share the abundance with others.

I really have few wants for myself, other than the security of never having to worry about money. Because God provides all that we need, my ultimate goal is to establish a charitable foundation that will provide funds as needed to help others, specifically children.

My example in working and giving will encourage my family and others to follow in my steps and positively impact their respective communities.

Elisa Rowland